MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

As we begin 2017, I am honored to serve as President of the Woodworkers Club of Houston. I look forward to working with our officers, board and membership as we begin to plan the upcoming year's activities. Our objectives for this year are simple. We want to provide programs that promote our common interest in woodworking and to share our skills and techniques to help develop safer woodworking habits and conditions. We also want to reach out to the public through new strategies that will inform and increase their interest in becoming a member of our club.

One of the best benefits of being a club member is the friendships that are developed at our meetings. You will find within our membership people who are more than willing to assist you with a problem you might have with a project. Feel free to ask for help, if that individual can't help you, they probably know someone in the membership with the expertise that you need. I have made friends through the years as we worked together on club activities or helping one another on some of our woodworking projects. Many of these friends were mentors to me and others in the club. The warm friendly atmosphere speaks volumes about our club. We welcome new members and encourage them to become involved in whatever capacity they feel comfortable.

Our new Vice-President, Charles Volek, is planning our programs for the upcoming year. He will be distributing a program survey to identify what programs you would like to see presented in 2017. This gives you an excellent opportunity to give input on what programs are presented and if you would be willing to present a program. We have many gifted woodworkers within our club who have presented programs through the years. We are always looking for new talent.

In closing, I want to invite all members to share your thoughts and ideas with the club officers and board to help our club to be the best we can be. We value your input.

Thanks for your support,

Mike Turner - President

WWCH Collecting Toys

WWCH is collecting STUFFED ANIMALS to distribute to the police. They carry these stuffed animals in their squad cars to give to children when they answer domestic disturbance calls. These soft and cuddly toys are so helpful to a traumatized and tearful child when their world is turned upside down.

If you have access to stuffed animals that could comfort a child, bring them to a meeting and we'll take it from there.

Thank you, from the children!

New Officers for 2017

The 2017 board of directors were elected during the December meeting. Your new board for this year is:

President: Mike Turner
Vice President: Charles Volek
Secretary: John Lastrapes
Treasurer: David Janowitz
Publications: Gary Rowen

Board Members: Bill Harris, Lynn Cummings, Joe Cook, and Roslyn Hager (Past President)

December Program Wrap-up

Mike Turner, Vice President WWCH, explained to Club members various ways to use portable power tools to double as stand alone tools. His suggestions for those on a small budget or who live in a "shopless" home were very helpful especially for young woodworkers or those just starting out. Thanks, Mike!

It's Time to Renew!

$36 - Still the best deal in town!

You can pay your WWCH 2017 dues at the January meeting in cash, check made out to WWCH, or credit card. Or mail your check to David Janowitz. His address is in the club membership directory or you can email him at elstupido@att.net.

Reminder! To be included in the 2017 directory, dues must be received no later than Tuesday, February 28th.

Odds and Ends from the Scrap Pile

- ◆ Interested in an Intarsia Splinter Group? There appears to be increased interest by several members for learning more about Intarsia. Steve Wavro has been making Intarsia pieces for 12 years now and is considering whether now might be a good time to establish a splinter group specifically for those interested in learning more about this art form and improving their skills. If you have not heard about Intarsia, you can see what it looks like on Steve's Shutterfly Site: https://stevewavrointarsia.shutterfly.com. If you think you might want to join an Intarsia splinter group, please send Steve an email at steve.wavro@gmail.com or stop by and talk to him at the January meeting.
- Please check your contact information When you sign in at the monthly meeting, please check your contact information. Notify Patti Page, David Janowitz, or Gary Rowen for any changes or corrections.
- ♦ Notice all shop crawlers! Attention all Woodworker's living in Clear Lake, Friendswood, and surrounding areas: YOU are on notice for the spring shop crawl scheduled for May 13th. Details to follow.

PRESENTERS

David Janowitz	Cutting Boards
Loren Gideon	Bandsaw Boxes
Steve Wavro	Pull Toy/Wedding Tree
Bob Wink	Intarsia Portrait/Texas Navy
Larry Burgess	. Navy Service Scroll Saw Plaque
Don Pott	Cubs Plaque/Intarsia Squirrel
Chuck Meeder	Christmas Ornaments
Fred Sandoval	Slot Cutting Jig
Mark Bolinger	Shaving Pony
Lon Kelley	Recipe Boxes
Rebecca DeGroot	Artistic Critter
Mark Womack	Desk
Tim Shaunty	Plywood Creations
George Graves	Scroll Saw Work

A memo to friends and relatives resulted in several requests to David Janowitz for cutting boards mostly of Osage orange and some red oak. David used a drum sander then finished with mineral oil.

Being new to woodworking, Loren Gideon watched a video about band sawed boxes and then made a couple. Because his wife loves dragonflies and has a great big heart he carved a dragonfly with a head made of maple in the shape of a heart.

Some can't live by intarsia alone so Steve Wavro made a wedding tree for guests to sign. Steve also read a book from the Club library about making animated toys. After learning the hard way Steve stressed that you need to read the directions before you start cutting. Steve also had to make a jig to reduce the wheel size diameter.

Show and Tell

Bob Wink was inspired by a ship he saw at a local museum folk art show so he crafted a Texas Navy ship himself. Being told that "real" intarsia must use the color of real wood, Bob used red oak, white pine and black walnut to create his portrait.

Chuck Meeder carved some Christmas ornaments from basswood. Chuck finished with water borne acrylics topping off with spray on Deft lacquer.

Larry Burgess is a retired pastor and needed something to give back to the community so he started making plaques that he would give to service men. This plaque is of Lauan (or Luan) plywood backing the top of Baltic birch.

Fred Sandoval showed Club members how he uses his homemade jig to make slots for 45 degree miters (wood joints, not bishop headdresses).

Don Pott has been working on his Cub plaque for a year hoping it would bring good luck – and it worked. Don thanks Fred Sandoval and Steve Wavro for all their help leading to a very nice squirrel intarsia.

Not having enough room for a shaving horse, Mark Bolinger made a shaving pony instead and explained to Club members how to use it. It is easier and more efficient to use as opposed to a vice clamp – you have to constantly adjust the handle. The geometry of the holes is important as well as leather on the jaws.

Show and Tell

Parallel strand lamination lumber leftover from construction in his neighborhood became the wood source for Lon Kelley's pair of recipe boxes. Lon also spoke about the process. There were voids that Lon filled with stainable filler – squeegeed it in then sanded.

Rebecca DeGroot's "critters" seem to take on a personality when she completes them so she named this one, "Dauntless". The quills are of rosewood and the body of maple. The body was originally turned on a lathe then shaped to final form. Paste wax finished the quills and spray satin polyurethane finished the body.

A fun first time project for Mark Womack was a desk that his wife pretended to like to two years. So Mark came up with a new design using Sketchup. Joinery is pocket holes and glue. Handles from Hobby Lobby. Mark finished with water borne polyurethane because oil based yellows over time which Mark didn't want.

"You can't carve plywood" was the challenge that Tim Shaunty accepted. Tim carved a fish and because it looked like a fish the "loser" donated $100 to a women's shelter. Way to fund raise, Tim. Tim explained how he used King Arthur angle grinder wheels to rough out the shapes from Wink wood which was followed by lots of sanding.

Using a scroll saw that his wife bought him, George Graves crafted a plaque for a friend, some Christmas ornaments for his wife, a cutting board for his daughter, who just got married, and a sleigh to hold their big collection of Christmas cards, too. George used patterns from Steve Good.
